

During in the office of the Indiana State Sentinel on Saturday last, my particular friend and opponent for auditor, John W. Hamilton, made his appearance and procured a considerable number of the full Democratic county tickets for this county, which had just been printed. I immediately put on my puzzling cap, in order to divine the reason for this strange procedure, in one who I had been led to believe desired any thing else than my election. Has this man, thought I, turned Democratic, deserted the whigs and declined running for auditor? Has the annexation of Texas and determination of President Polk to flag the British rather than give up Oregon determined him to support the Democratic candidates for Congress and the State Legislature? I could not believe that either of these motives governed him, and that only two considerations could have operated upon him in the purchase of these tickets. The first to afford himself and friends a facility to swap off one or both the whig candidates for Representative, for Democratic votes for Auditor; and the other to give him an opportunity to scratch off my name from the Democratic ticket and insert his own; and, by having these mutilated or spurious Democratic tickets placed among the genuine on the day of the election, he has hopes of thus smuggling in a few Democratic votes at each of the township, and, by this means, securing his election. The whole proceeds go to show that my competitor despairs of his election on fair and honorable terms, and that some resort of this kind must be had or he will be defeated. If any Democrats choose to vote for Mr. Hamilton, they have a right to do so, for I am flattered with the assurance that many of my old Whig friends, out of personal kindness, will give me their votes. I hope, however, that my Democratic friends in each of the townships will look out for Democratic tickets with my name scratched out and John W. Hamilton's inserted, mingled up with the rest, for the purpose of deception, in the hurry of the election, and see that no voter is in this way defrauded out of his vote.

Since writing the above I have learned that these spurious or mutilated tickets are to be extensively circulated on the line of our Railroad, with a view, by deception, of securing the votes of the Democratic Irishmen and Germans engaged on the work, many of whom are personally unacquainted with me. I confess that when I heard this, the Irish blood which courses in my veins flowed with great rapidity. Knowing I had ever been the defender of the sons of the Emerald Isle, as well as all others who have sought a refuge and a home on our shores, both in a public and private capacity, and knowing too that of all others they most despise hypocrisy and deception, I trust that generous hearted Irishmen and Germans will be found to see that I have fair play in the election.

Respectfully, NATHANIEL BOLTON.

July 27, 1845.

P. S. The above plan being exposed, I would caution my Democratic friends against printed Democratic tickets with my name left out and Mr. Hamilton's inserted, as a plan of this kind may now be anticipated. It is with reluctance I publish this notice as the county will bear me witness that I have treated my opponent respectfully. But self defence impelled me to the course I have adopted.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 16, 1845.

GENTLEMEN: My right to receive letters free of postage, terminated on the last day of June. At that rate I am now receiving letters my postage would be at least $500 a year. This must originate from some impression that I receive my mail matter free, as I have never received a cent for it. I am a member of the members of the Cabinet, with the request that I will hand them over to these functionaries. Bundles of petitions requesting the appointments of postmasters and soliciting my aid, upon which I am compelled to pay postage. My friends can command my services, but my purse I must reserve for the payment of my debts. I am obliged to count on my friends and circumstances have changed my opinion. By law I am prohibited from prosecuting disputed claims, but another business with the departments I will transact without fee or reward; I will answer any interrogatories, and upon all other subjects give such information as I can obtain. I do not intend to receive postage. This is not intended to apply to my friendly correspondents who write to give me the current news, but to such as write me upon their own business.

I am very respectfully
Your obedient servant,
WM. J. BROWN.

Messrs. G. A. & J. P. CHAPMAN.

THE PRINTING TELEGRAPH.—The New York Commercial says: "Our readers were informed, the other day, that we had seen the work of this new instrument—a slip of paper, having on it some words printed by the telegraph. We have since had an opportunity of seeing the machine itself—seen it at work. And a most ingenious and beautiful contrivance it is. It can be used to judge perfectly efficient. We are not trusting from telling how its operations are performed, or giving any intimation of its construction; but its doings we may speak, and surely there is nothing we can say that would go beyond its merits. Its advantages over Morse's telegraph are, greater rapidity of action, greater certainty, and facility of use by a person not so well versed in telegraphic science. It is at each end capable of translating the hieroglyphic marks and dots; but the printing telegraph makes the ordinary letters, arranges them in words, and can be governed by any person who can spell. We shall say no more at present, understanding that no very long time will elapse before the printing telegraph will be open for everybody's inspection."

CONICAL RIFLE BALLS.—The Viecksbach Sentinel says that the greatest modern improvement in rifles has been the introduction of conical instead of spherical balls. The conical ball is carried with a grain rifled at least one third farther with point blank accuracy than the spherical; and from an iron target at 1000 yards a shot of these balls will have been known to hold up to the astonishing distance of more than a thousand yards. They were invented in France by a scientific gentleman, M. Deloigne, and have been approved by the great Arago, as modelled on strict scientific principles. Deloigne also invented the improved rifling of the guns from which they are shot.

ANOTHER IMPLEMENT IN WARFARE.—A new implement in warfare, of a terrible efficacy, has just been devised in England, by Professor Brunson. It consists of a liquid similar to alcohol, in which oxygen is replaced by arsenic. It ignites the moment it is exposed to the air. If any vessel filled with like a glass or iron globe, should be thrown upon decks or into the ports of a ship, it would ignite momentary, and the vessel would be consumed by the inflammable liquid instantly would be in a blaze. The atmosphere at once becomes filled with clouds of white arsenic, by which a deadly poison is evolved and inhaled. Being heavier than, and insoluble in water it could not be extinguished, and, of course, it comes fatal to all within its influence. A dread implement in the art of war.

ANOTHER DESTRUCTIVE IMPLEMENT.—JAMES O'Connor, of Mulberry street, New York, states, that he had invented an instrument of war, which, if sustained by nine men, he could enter and demolish strongest fortification, or attack, disperse, and destroy a solid square of 100,000 men. Mr. O'Connor has his invention as far back as 1831, and says that he has been in correspondence with the Duke of Wellington and other official personages on the subject.

THE CHINA-REEL.—The Boston Transcript gives the following account of the celestials brought by Mr. Peters of N. York, and who created so much curiosity while there:

"Among the strange creatures in Bo-ton are three real Chinese, the stout, good specimens of the inhabitants of the Celestial Empire. They appear in full Chinese costume, long black queue and all, and are attaches of the famous Chinese Museum, which is soon to be opened here, and will form an interesting part of that exhibition.

We have already stated that one of these Chinamen was a professor of music. His name is Lekok, and he is about twenty years of age, and has much more the appearance of a philosopher than a musician. He has a very sedate and imperturbable look; and we understand he has never, since leaving China, manifested any symptoms of excitement, except when he first got into the cars upon the railroad, on his way from New York to Boston. He is, in fact, an inveterate Chinese; and seems determined to become a 'Harlequin' if he can help it. Mr. West, the proprietor of the Captain Kilham, of the ship Bazaar, in which the Museum and the Chinese gentlemen were brought out, took considerable pains to instruct Lekok in some of the facts of European science, but in vain. He obstinately persists in his oriental notion of the perfection of the human race, and has no idea of the march of mind and all that sort of thing. He is, however, very opinionative in his own mind, and still dogmatically maintains that the world is not round, but as flat as a pancake, and as long as from New York to New York.

Tsow-Chaong is much more tractable; and takes great delight in the developments of the new world. He is charmed with this country, and says he means, after he has filled his three years' engagement with the Celestial Empire, to go to the States, and to see his father and mother, and then come back here and live. He is about 25 years old, speaks Canton-English pretty intelligently, and writes a fair English hand. We have before us a specimen of Tsow-Chaong's chirography, which shows that he has already made considerable proficiency in his European education.

The other one appears to be of humbler rank, and to have fewer Chinese peculiarities. He comes, we believe, in the capacity of a servant, and as a matter of convenience has assumed the European dress. They all visited Mr. Simpson's factory at Saxonville a day or two since, and were marvelously attracted by the operations of Yankee labor-saving machinery.

"HORSE ALLEN'S" FIRST COURT.—Judge Allen, or as he is commonly called, "Horse Allen," soon after he was appointed to the office of justice of the peace in Gasconade, Missouri. There had been previous violations of the law in that section, and the "Horse" was determined that punishment should be inflicted. Accordingly, upon his arrival, after Sheriff, jury and witnesses had assembled, the first order of the Court was that each and all should "strip" themselves, and go to work and raise a suitable testiment in which to hold the business before the Court. The first bidding for such a purpose in the county, "Well," after hard work, a number of logs, piled up together, were made to answer the purpose desired. The Court had come to order, and was proceeding with its legitimate business, when some evil disposed person interrupted the proceedings, and insulted "his Honor," by uttering the words, "Horse Allen, you are a damned fool!" The Sheriff was going on with his business, calling the names of the Jury, when he was interrupted by the Judge with an order to "adjourn the Court for fifteen minutes," sagely observing, "that he thought it would take about that time to complete the job." The Court adjourned, and the Judge descended from the bench, at the same time drawing his bowie knife, and threatening upon the spot to cut the throat of the business offender. The Judge, however, found that his antagonist was not the man for him, armed as he was, so, throwing aside his weapon, he pulled off his coat, and to use his own words, "gave him a whiff of the d—st sticking he had ever had in his life." Puffing and blowing with the exercise, the Judge returned to the bench, at the expiration of the prescribed time, and the Sheriff, who had been interrupted, ascended the stairs to his friend, the "Horse." "You are a 'People' said he, "I am here to adjudge the law and administer justice, by thunder! If you care any thing about civilization, I'm ready to give you a touch of it, by—!" As the Sheriff and his officer are not here, we must, in a single handed—and are any one says he isn't satisfied, I'll adjourn the Court again and give him a chance!

"Horse Allen" said he, "I say that the etiquette of the Court is to strip, and I am here to see that it is done."—St. Louis Recille.

We heard an inkling of an adventure a night or two since, that occurred a few weeks ago. A young gentleman, belonging to the honorable profession of the law, became by his gallantries among the female portion of his married acquaintances, rather obnoxious to the good sense of his wife, who, by her reputation of being quite too rakish for a married man. At length his attentions to some of his near neighbors were so pointed, that his wife, an exemplar woman, distinguished for piety and virtue and domestic qualities, remonstrated with him, and entreated him to desist, for his conduct had made her extremely unhappy. Of course, he promised reformation, but she, being a woman of sense, did not believe him. The conduct of a husband continued his gallantries, and they occasionally came to his wife's ears, but she remonstrated no longer, seeking consolation in the endearments of her children. Having some legal business to transact with one of his friends, our gallant gentleman called at his office on Main street, one afternoon, and found it locked. Anxious to attend to it before the day closed, he called again just about twilight, and as he ascended the stairs to his friend's room, the door was unlocked, and a lady closely veiled came out and passed down the steps into the street. Ever on the lookout for a new conquest, business was forgotten, and he decided on following the lady to her residence. On overtaking her, he tried to engage her in conversation, but not a word would she utter, nor did she say a thought, soon disposed to go home; but he was determined to follow her, and he followed her until something behind so that she should be known if he ever met her again. He accordingly took his knife and cut a liberal piece, unperceived, from the lady's beautiful silk scarf, and then left her to pursue the even tenor of her way homeward. On the following morning he happened in at his next door neighbor and found a piece of silk in the parlor was the veritable scarf of a wife of his in his pocket.

"Mrs. —, how come your handsome piece of silk missing indeed, to send a borrowed article home in the state; I guess when I laid your wife anything against she will know it?"

Comment is unnecessary. The husband was petted and pampered. What could he do, or say, but believe? There was a talk of reputation, but it was not yet taken place.—Cin. Enquirer.

AN EPILOGUE.—The following circumstance happened in one of the towns of Arkansas. A man had been drinking until a late hour at night, before he started for home. Honest folks had been long in bed, and the houses were all shut and dark. The liquor he had taken was too much for him; he did not know where to go. He at last staggered into an empty yard, and shed and fell upon the ground. For a long time lay in all the unconsciousness of drunken sleep, and he would undoubtedly have frozen (for the snow ground showed the night to be very cold), had he not been less insensible than himself been around him. This shed was a favorite rendezvous for the thieves of the town, and when they arrived, they arrived, and with the trust hospitality, they gave their companion the middle of the bed, some lying on either side of him, and others acting the part of a quilt. The warmth prevented him from being injured by his posture. Towards morning he awoke; finding his self comfortable, in blissful ignorance of his whereabouts, he supposed himself enjoying the accommodations of a comfortable inn, and he was not long in reaching out his hand, and catching hold of that brittle of a log, exclaimed, "Why, Alston, when did you shave last?"

OHIOANS CAPTURED! GREAT EXCITEMENT!!—On the evening of the 9th, three men from Ohio, Mr. C. Loraine, Mr. Garner, and Mr. Thomas, all of Washington county, Ohio, were seized on the Ohio shore, by a body of men from Virginia, and lodged in jail at Parkersburg, upon the charge that they had aided the escape of slaves.

The facts as we learn them are these, that six negroes, belonging to Mr. Howard, of Wood county, Va., make their escape into Ohio; that seven men, among whom were the three above named, met these negroes on the bank; and were aiding them in the removal of their baggage, when they were seized, the other four escaping.

This was done without any process of law. The Virginians say that they had knowledge of the designs of the Ohioans, which they derived unquestionably from the negroes; and that they were thus prepared to defeat the designs of both parties. The friends of the captured whites tell this story; that some seven weeks since they were solicited by a white man, an elder in the Baptist Church in Virginia, and our informant thinks his name is Brown, to aid them in the escape of negroes; that they refused to leave this State for that purpose; but said they were always ready to help the bond in their efforts to gain their liberty; and that he returned and entered into the plot against them, for a promised reward if they were captured of fifty dollars.

The Ohioans are to be examined on Friday of this week, before a called County Court, on the question of their commitment for trial before the Superior Court in England. The indictment is very general on both sides. In Virginia, half the inhabitants of Parkersburg are armed, and prepared to repel any attempt to release the prisoners. In Washington county, in this State, meetings have been held in four townships, (and several others are to meet,) with the object mainly, to ensure a fair trial of the Ohioans, (being aware that these men have been made to cure lawlessness by violation of law—in other words, to tear down Parkersburg jail, and so give freedom to their townsmen.

We wish our friends in Ohio to be firm, but cool. Malan was seized on the same grounds, and in the same way nearly; but a Kentucky Court and Jury acquitted him without a moment's hesitation.—Cincinnati Gazette.

POSTAGE CHARGEABLE TO THE GOVERNMENT UNDER THE NEW POST OFFICE LAW.—The Union of Friday says that up to the 1st instant, there has been no method of estimating the precise value (at the legal rates) of the mail service required for the business of the different departments of the general government. A correspondence has now been kept up between the Washington City post office and the different bureaus and departments of government, which shows the mail service performed. The Union has obtained the following statement from the city post office, which, though no general criterion, is yet sufficient to give the public an idea of the mail service required for the business of the General Post Office Department:

An exhibit of the postage charged since the 1st instant, at the post office in this city, upon the quarterly returns rendered by postmasters to the Postmaster General:

Date.	Weight.	Amount.
1845. July 2.	89 lbs. 12 oz.	$143 65
" " 3.	678 lbs. 0 "	1,371 20
" " 4.	683 lbs. 1 "	1,355 80
" " 5.	1470 lbs. 8 "	3,339 00
" " 6.	460 lbs. 8 "	7,736 20
" " 7.	180 lbs. 8 "	3,430 00
" " 8.	412 lbs. 0 "	1,551 50
" " 9.	549 lbs. 8 "	1,562 80

Pounds, 6048 131 oz. $15,724 25

This large sum, charged to the department during the first nine days of this month, is exclusive of the postage on the correspondence of the Postmaster General, the three Assistant Postmaster Generals, and the Auditor. According to the new law, the department falls upon the treasury of the United States for the means of payment, in case its revenue falls short.

NEW POSTAGE LAW.—They are trying in Alabama to get their Candidates for Congress pledged to vote for repealing the new Post Office Law. Do you know why?

The old law required the Postmaster General to carry the Mail in Post Coaches. Now, in Alabama, and a large part of the South, the principal stage lines get an average of one passenger. Of course they cannot support themselves. But what does the government do? It advertises for a contract to carry the mail through New Orleans to Pensacola, and through other places in Post Coaches. Of course the mail contractors make their bids high enough to cover the whole expenses of running the Coaches. Thus the people in Alabama, Florida, South Carolina, &c. &c. get their Post Coaches run and paid for by Government.

Under the New Law the Postmaster General must contract in his own cheap manner.

The mail will be carried by post-riders. This is the reason why the folks down there do not like the law.—Cincinnati Chronicle.

LIFE OF GENERAL JACKSON.—For the information of the public, says the Union, we are informed that the late correspondence of the Postmaster General Jackson will be resumed about the first of next month, and concluded by the close of the present year. To remove some erroneous impressions which are abroad in reference to this matter, we have been furnished by Mr. Kendall, for publication, with the following extract of a letter from General Jackson, dated May 25, 1845, viz:

"I collect my papers, you are to retain them as long as you think necessary to use them. Should you do, they are to pass forthwith into my hands. I have full and unlimited confidence in you both, and my papers will be safe in your hands; and that they will never be permitted to be used but for a proper use." * * * "My papers, after you are done with them, or on your death, are to pass into the hands of Francis P. Blair."

GROWTH OF THE WEST.—The second child born in Cincinnati still lives, and has not seen the middle of his life, while Cincinnati contains 80,000 inhabitants, the old pioneer who first settled where Cincinnati now stands, when the State of Ohio was a wilderness, now walks hearty and strong amid a throng of two millions; and the first child born of American parents in the city of Allegheny, where the first child of Washington as a surveyor on the banks of the Kenawau when the whole northwest, with immaterial exceptions, was in possession of the savages—is yet alive in boyhood she numbers the growth of an empire—the peopling of the mighty valley between the base of the Blue Ridge and the Rocky Mountains!

WILLIAM STEWART, confined in the prison at Baltimore for the murder of his father, died on Saturday week. He was sentenced to be imprisoned in the Penitentiary for the term of eighteen years. He had served between six and seven years of that period, and death has remitted the balance of the sentence. He persisted that he had not, directly or indirectly, participated in the murder. He was asked if he suspected any person of having been concerned in the crime, and hesitating a short time, he said that he had himself been arrested on suspicion, tried on suspicion, convicted on suspicion, and as he was about to appear before his God, and in view of the great suffering that he had undergone, he would not let the name of the suspected party pass his lips, for fear that it might be as innocent as himself.

THE RIGHT SORT.—We are gratified to perceive that Bishop Hughes, the distinguished Catholic Bishop of New York has come out boldly against OGC, and, in consequence of the virulent attack which Agadator is making on the institutions of the U. S. The Bishop pronounces him a monarchist, hostile to liberty and equal rights, and declares it to be the duty of Catholics to support the government, which he protected them; assuring the world that Catholics under all circumstances, will stand by and defend their adopted country.—Evansville Courier.

☞ We are requested to announce JOHN W. HAMILTON as a candidate for re-election to the office of Auditor of Marion county.

What a singular medley a newspaper must be! In one column you find a labored and swelling eulogy of departed greatness, apparently written with tears and inspired by sorrow; in the next appears the history of the crops; another occurs a meagre witticism; next comes a circus puff, or a recommendation of Ice Cream; and then follow the deaths and marriages. All sorts (and no taste at all) are thus consouled. Sorrow and fun, business and nonsense, must all find a place in the "folio of four pages, or people will stop the paper."

SHOCKING OFFENSE.—A man and his wife, residing in the neighborhood of Buttonwood and Chatam streets, Philadelphia, got into a quarrel and fought on Sunday week, and during their struggles knocked a pot of polling coffee over upon one of their children, a girl about eight or nine years old, scalding her face and skin in a shocking manner. The child is hardly expected to recover, and if she does live, will, in all probability, be much disfigured.

EFFECT OF IRASCIBILITY.—A few days ago, in Boston, a father, in a petulant moment, struck his child and knocked it off a chair upon its head. The child died the next day in consequence of the injury.

Daniel B. Powers, of Rochester, N. Y., has been sentenced to two years in the State Prison, upon a conviction of perjury in obtaining his bankrupt papers.

At Stettin, Prussia, is a hotel on whose sign is painted a stork standing on one leg, with the other projected horizontally, and underneath the inscription "Our Fanny Elsieher."—"Fanny Elsieher Hotel."

SUGGESTION.—The Surveyor of St. Louis has seized about $200 worth of books, claiming that they were smuggled into that port by way of New Orleans. The owner is a Scotsman named McLean.

"A Prophet" has been arrested and imprisoned in Quebec, for having foretold the destruction of the portion of the city recently destroyed by fire. He is probably more of an "incendiary" than a prophet, although he claims to be the latter.

The New York Canal tolls show a decline of $15,170, as compared with last year. The Erie tolls declined $42,381, and the Oswego $3,716. The Champlain and other lateral canal tolls rose 39,274, which speaks well for the southern tier of counties and for the Erie Railroad.

The Vermont Central Railroad will be built. $1,200,000 has been subscribed in Boston; $800,000 along the line of the road; and Mr. Belknap, the builder of the Fitchburg railroad, has signified his intention of subscribing $500,000, if he can obtain the building of this one.

A TORCH STORY.—A man and his wife having bitter quarrel, in order to appease their fury, the three lit their portable furniture out of the window. The wife then came ripped up in the middle of the bed, as we fathers affect in the str., and then rushing to the banisters of the stairs, and breaking her arm out on them, she exclaimed with insane energy, "Now you scoundrel, you must pay for a surgeon!"

HUMANITY.—Some hu mane and Christian individual, (says the Boston Bee,) the owner of a horse that was sick beyond recovery, and consequently unsalable to him, last evening, (Sunday) drove the poor animal on to Russia wharf, and then pushed him down stairs to die by drowning. A useless, perhaps, to add that the owner took the shoes off the horse in force consigning him to a watery grave. The world is that it did not skin him.

"Ren Dos."—The Smiths at Newark have at last given a statement of the St. Clair Bank operation which, if their own words are true, shows them that just one hundred forty-four thousand and eighty-five dollars worth than nothing. As paper money is always made for the welfare of community, however probably the holders of this amount of worthless promises will not complain.—Cia. Eng.

CONJUGALITY.—One pretty good joke come out of the Anti-Slavery Fellowship meeting at the Hall the other night is, that Mr. Withersoll, the keeper of a Town Hall, not being able to find any one who would pay the fifty cents, due for the use of the Hall, the two independent Orders of Odd Fellows and M. A. S.

OBITUARY.
 Departed this life, in the triumphs of faith, at Clinton, Indiana, June the 12th, 1845, sister Joanna Raiment Brown, consort of Otis Brown, and daughter of John and Lydia Whitcomb. She was born in Hancock county, Ohio, December 14th, 1812. At the age of eleven she removed with her widowed mother and family to this State, and settled near Lafayette. In 1833, she became united in the holy bonds of matrimony to her present bereaved husband, and settled in the same town where she died. As a neighbor, she was much esteemed, and was an agreeable companion, an affectionate mother, a very useful Sabbath School Teacher, and a zealous devoted christian, and was devoted to the cause, and raising pious Ministers. During her sickness, two of her brothers (James Whitcomb, Governor of Indiana, and Rev. David Whitcomb of the Ohio Conference,) visited her. She talked freely and calmly with them, and others, about death and her blessed prospect of Heaven.
 Thus lived and died one who in death could lean her head on Jesus, and breathe her last word sweetly there. Her funeral was presided by the writing of this article, to a large and deeply affected audience, that gave evidence that they had been bereaved of a much loved friend; but their loss is her gain. She sleeps in the grave-yard by the side of her four children, that were buried in infancy, to await the sound of the trumpet that will bid them arise. May Heaven bless the bereaved family, and give them a joyful and friends. O! that the whole family may meet in Heaven!

THE CHOLERA
Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Inter-

all the various forms of
Bilious Diseases
SPEEDILY & THOROUGHLY
CURED
By Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue

This invaluable medicine was prepared from an extensive practice of the human system, can only explain its extraordinary agency in the speedy, thorough and permanent cure of Fever and ague, and the various grades of intermittent and remittent fevers.

From Hon. Ross WILKINS, United States District Judge for the District of Michigan.
Mr. Edward Bingham, Detroit, Oct. 26, 1842.
Dear Sir—With great pleasure I state the fact of the complete and radical cure of the Fever and Ague, which I contracted in 1841, when I was attacked by the use, pursuant to directions, of Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue. He had as severe an attack as I ever witnessed, and I apprehended a long winter of this disease, which was so common to me, and which I thought would have ended in my death. But was providentially led to notice your advertisement in relation to this medicine—determined to try it, and the use of one bottle broke the disease, and I am confident has effected a radical cure, as two months have now elapsed without a return of it, and my son is in the enjoyment of perfect health. It is an invaluable medicine, and should be generally known.
ROSS WILKINS.

From Hon. STEPHEN V. R. TROWBRIDGE, of Michigan State Senate.
Mr. Bingham—You wish me to inform you what I know of Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue, or anti bilious medicine. I do believe that if the virtue and efficacy of this medicine were generally known, the Fever and Ague would disappear in a very short time. I procured a bottle in the spring of 1841, and have good reason to believe that myself and family escaped the ague last spring in consequence of its use.

Package of this medicine since the settlement of this city (Ponchartrave) has the Fever and ague been so prevalent as the late. It has recommended this medicine in numerous instances, and when the disease had become fixed and baffled the skill of physicians—and I have seen thousands of cases of this disease in the form of ague, and cholera, and I believe it has never been cured by any medicine in removing the bilious diseases of the climate.

Yours respectfully, STEPHEN V. R. TROWBRIDGE.

From Hon. E. FARNSWORTH, Chancellor of the State of Michigan.
Detroit, March 23, 1842.
Mr. Edward Bingham, Druggist, Detroit.
Dear Sir—The use of Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue and have had opportunities of observing its salutary effects when used by others. I believe it a most valuable medicine for the cure of Fever and ague; and also that its proper use will prove a most certain preservative against its recurrence, to those persons who have been afflicted with it are liable. Very respectfully
E. FARNSWORTH.

From LUCIUS ABBOTT, M. D., late Surgeon United States Army.
Bismarck, N. D., 18th Oct., 1854.
To Edward Bingham, Agent for the sale of the India Cholagogue—I do hereby certify that I have used the India Cholagogue prepared by Charles Osgood, M. D., for intermittent fevers, and it has cured me of the same. I have also used it in the cure of dysentery. I feel a confidence in recommending it as a perfectly safe and highly beneficial remedy and cure for Fever and ague, and cholera, dumb ague, of any other form of intermittent fever.

I do further testify that the medicine has in my hands, and in the hands of my friends, acquired a very high reputation, and that in every case where it has been used to my knowledge, it has universally produced a speedy cure, and restored to the most perfect health, when all other remedies have failed to do so.

Very respectfully,
LUCIUS ABBOTT.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry!
Will Miraculously cure! More evidence of its surpassing health Restorative Virtues!!!
To Edward B. Baker, Springfield, Mass.
Messrs. Sanford & Park, Springfield, Mass. May 14, 1865.
Gents—I take this opportunity of informing you of a most remarkable cure performed upon me by the use of "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry."
In the year 1840 I was taken with an inflammation of the bowels which I labored under for six weeks when I gradually recovered. In the fall of 1851 I was attacked with a severe cold, which developed into a severe inflammation of the lungs, and I was confined to my bed. I tried all kinds of medicines, and every variety of medical and without benefit; and thus I wandered along until the winter of 1864, when I heard of "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry." My friends persuaded me to give it a trial, and after a few days I was enabled to get up, and feel better, and I was well for the change of another world. Through their solicitations I was induced to make use of the Genuine Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. The effect was truly astonishing. After five years of affliction, pain and suffering, I was enabled to get up, and feel better, and I was well for the change of another world. Through their solicitations I was induced to make use of the Genuine Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. The effect was truly astonishing.
